BODY OF A YOUNG WOMAN IN A LAKE.

Discovery Made by a Party of Three South St. Louis Boys at Lyon Park.

Florence J. Hassford, Who Disappeared on March Seventeenth.

The body of a comely young woman of probably 21 years was found at 9:30 o'clock. last night in the take at Lyon Park, in South St. Louis, by William Greenwood, Fred Smith and Philip Lieber, boys living in the neighborhood, who had gone down

Shortly after they arrived at the lake in the dim light afforded by the electric lamps that surround the park they saw what they thought to be the body of a human being floating on the water. They tushed at once to the Second District Police Station and informed Policemen Wells and Smith of what they had seen. The two officers went to the Broadway car sheds, Where they procured a long pole and spliced a grappling book on to it. They then hurried to the take. The body was about fourteen feet from the shore and in water five feet deep. At the first thrust of the pole the grappling book caught in the clothins of the corpse and it was drawn ashore. None of those who witnessed the recovery could identify the body, and the officers stated that no one in the neighborhood had been reported missing at the station-house Death apparently had occurred only a few hours before. The body was in perfect condition, and was still limp. Georse Bauman, the watchman of the park, said that he was certain the woman got futo the lake after 6 o'clock, as he had made his rounds at that time, and, passing the lake, noticed nothing unusual.

The body measures about 5 feet 4 inches and weighs probably 125 pounds. The pair is dark brown and the complexion fair. The woman wore a double-breasted, heavy, dark cloth jacket, with four large black but-tens; a blue gingbam waist, black wooden skirt and black, laced, low-quarter shoes. A black tascinator completely covered her head, and black woolen mittens were on hear, and black woolen mittens were on her hands. Around her waist she wore a tan-colored leather belt.

There were no letters, cards or other ar-ticles by which identification was possible. The only article recovered from the body was a white, unmarked linen handkerchiet.

The city undertaker was notified and the body was removed to the morgue shortly after it had been recovered. after it had been recovered.

SUGGESTION BY STEPHENS.

Dewey's Candidacy. Jefferson City, Mo., April 5.- in response

o the inquiry of a New York paper, Govrnor Stephens to-night sent out the followog message. "The announcement that the great naval commander and untional hero, Admiral Dewey, would be a candidate for President of the United States, created not a ripple lewey, would be a cambinate for President of the United States, created not a ripple upon the political waters of Missouri tried he amounted it six months ago it would have been more seriously considered. At that time he stated that he knew nothing of politics and cared less. When he says the office of Chief Ex cutive of the United States is not difficult to till, he bettays a lementable ignorance and shows his go-journ in Washington City for these many months has taught bim nothing. We cannot tell from the belated prolumnies to run as a Democrat or Republican. If a Democrat, he will find the masses already for Bryan; if a Republican, he will find Mc. Kinley practically renominated. Our leaders in the great struggle now on mais have positive coarticities. Kinley practically renominated. Our loaders in the great struggle now on must have positive coarietions. If personal popularity was alone sufficient, Mr. Dewey might be a formiliable candidate, The people admire his bravery and five him, but do not think he would make an ideal presidential candidate. We want our candidate for fresident not necessarily a great sea fighter, but a fighter of trusts, financial sharks, Government breakers and devits. It looks like Mr. Dewey has fallen a victim to yellow journalism. If he remains in the fight a week longer he will wish a thousand times he was oack in Manila Bay. We do not know whether Mr. Dewey is right on the questions of money, trusts, imperialism, etc., or not. If he is, and can stand on the Kansas City platform, what is the matter with Bryan and Dewey?

THOSE BACK OF DEWEY.

Gorman, Lamont, Olney and Oth ers Mentioned.

Washington, April 5.—As the Dewey pres-dential boom grows in age, the motive be-lind his candidacy becomes apparent Ar-hur P. Gorman, John R. McLean, William thur P. Gorman, John R. McLean, William C. Whitney, Dan Lamout, Richard Olney and others of that element, are all in symand others of that element, are all in sympathy with the Dewey movement.

They believed that by springing Dewey's name at this time, enough States would withheld instructions to make possible a strong pull for Dewey in the Kansas City convention.

That the scheme was carefully planned and lead with some in the convention of the convention.

That the scheme was carefully planned and had wide scope is thoroughly evidenced by facts which have come to the surface within the last ten days here in Washington. The District of Columbia has no vote at the polis, but is allowed by courtesy six delegates in the National Convention.

James L. Norris, the Democratic National Committeeman, professedly a Bryan man, but friendly to the Melean-Gorman influence, recently started a movement to send ence, recently started a movement to send an uninstructed delegation to Kansas City. an uninstructed delegation to Kansas City.
While claiming that he was for Bryan, he wanted to be sent as a delegate unhampered by "instructions."

When this clever design was first unfolded the sliver Democrats of the District distinct know what they do now, but, judying correctly that it was a Gorman-McLenn scheme, they fought it vigorously.

Last night, after the Dewey boom was sprung and the whole scheme was laid but, and the Princett delegates to Kansas City should be involved the legates to Kansas City should be instrict delegates to Kansas City should be instrict delegates to Kansas City should be instricted to vote for William J. Bryan and the reaffirmation of the Chicago platform.

This is defeat No. 1 for the men who are using the name of Admiral Dewey to promote the anti-Bryan movement. As washimston City is the actual home of Arthur P. Gorman and Joha R. Mellenr, this victory of the Bryan men is of far more importance than would at first plance appear.

If Mellenn and Gorman can be defeated If McLean and Gorman can be defeated here in Washington, what show have they out in the States?

Legislature's Committeemen Said to Have Been Indiscreet. REPUBLE SPECIAL

Boston, April 5.—Members of the Legislature are mixed up in a scandal at the Bridgewater State Normal School for Giris.

Two young women have written a letter to a Boston newspaper to complain that recently while the Legislative Committee on Education, in the absence of the Superintendent, was inspecting the institution at 2.30 in the evening, two of the younger members of the committee went into the dormitory.

Several of the girls already had retired for the night. The names of the men were not given. The other members of the com-mittee admit the misdeed of the young men, but characterize it as a mere foolish "indiscretion."

According to the young woman, one of the legislators was particularly offensive. MRS. DEWEY'S PLAN.
